FATHER O'NEIL IS BACK FROM TRIP TO HONOLULU

Catholic Priest Says Islands Wonder Place; Sights Well Worth Trip

"There's no place like Glendale!" exclaimed Rev. Father James S. O'Neil, pastor of the Holy Family Catholic church, commenting this morning upon his recent trip to Hawaii.

A delightful three-weeks' vacation was enjoyed by Father O'Neil, who found the trip to the islands well worth while.

The voyage was made on the City of Los Angeles, which, on account of the lateness of the season, only carried eighty-four first class passengers on the way over and forty-seven on the return trip. The ocean was calm and very few were bothered with mal de mer.

Guest of Bishop

While in Honolulu Father O'Neil was the guest of Bishop Libert and the priests at the Cathedral of St. Mary. An automobile was placed at his disposal and everything was done to make him comfortable.

Lieut. Gerald Farrell, son of Mrs. Katherine Farrell of 435 Patterson avenue was visited immediately after his airplane had caught fire over Pearl Harbor, and he and another officer had jumped from it just before the gasoline tank exploded.

"Liquid Sunshine" is the most noticeable thing about the Hawaiian Islands in the opinion of Father O'Neil. He asserted that it seemed quite remarkable to have it rain while the stars were out or the sun was shining brightly. He said that the rainbows were quite beautiful.

Fragance of Verdure

The fragrance of the verdure which covers the islands was a source of pleasure to Father O'Neil. He reported that all of the hills over there are green all the time. Samuel Clemens was able to remember this perfume for twenty years.

"Honolulu has a population of about 90,000," said Father O'Neil. "It is a fine American city with wide streets and right up to the minute."

The beach at Waikiki was visited. The water of the surf was found to be tepid in temperature, resulting in the breezes from the ocean being warm instead of cool," commented Father O'Neil.

"When people want to get cool," commented Father O'Neil, "they don't go to the beach, but up on the tops of the hills in the clouds. Most of the bathing at Waikiki is done after sunset because of the likelihood of sunburn."

The vari-colored fish in the immense aquarium were observed with interest. These are many hued and are dazzling to behold.

Punch bowl, Pali drive, the Elks' club, which is one of the finest clubhouses in the world, and the Honolulu Country club were other places visited by Father O'Neil.

PLAN PROGRAMS FOR CREDIT MEN

Name Committee to Arrange for Speakers and Other Features In Future

A number of interesting programs are to be worked out by the entertainment committee of the Glendale Credit Association, it is announced. The committee, which was appointed at the weekly meeting yesterday noon, is as follows: William Hunter, chairman; Charles F. Stuart, A. T. Cowan, Ed N. Radke, and James Webb.

At a meeting of the organization several weeks ago the subject of erecting signboards at the entrance to the city came up, and was briefly discussed. The plan is to call attention to the advantages of trading in this city. The following committee has been appointed to look into the matter: Arthur H. Dibbern, chairman; Vincent Salmacia, William C. Paige.

The meeting yesterday was well attended, over fifty members being present, according to Frank H. Pilling, scretary.

City Hall Employes Entertain at Dance

The city hall social season began last night with a Hallowe'en dance given in American Legion hall by the engineering department.

"One of the best parties I've ever attended!" exclaimed several of the guests.

About thirty-five couples were present. A large number of them were masqued.

Music was furnished by Eddie Moniot's orchestra consisting of Miss Marian Jones at the piano: Charles Theck, saxophone, and Herbert Brooks, violin. Mr. Moniot played the banjo.

Judge Baker's name is under consideration, it was said at the White House.

British West Indies Hears of Glendale

That Glendale's reputation for being "the fastest-growing city of its kind in the United States" has traveled to foreign parts is the word brought by Burton Birge, who, with Mrs. Birge, arrived recently from Jamaica, British West Indies, and have been entertained at the George Warren home at 640 North Maryland avenue.

Mr. Birge, who has had wide experience in the management of large hotels, has spent the last two years in Jamaica managing a large hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Birge are from New York City and it was there that they and the Warrens became friends.

Mr. Birge is very much interested in Glendale as a location for a modern tourist hotel.

"We even heard of Glendale in Jamaica," said Mr. Birge, "and we were anxious to see the city and I assure you we have not been disappointed. I see wonderful possibilities in the future for Glendale and think it an ideal location for a modern tourist hotel.

"The only surprising feature to me is that the city hasn't such a hotel in operation."

Mr. and Mrs. Birge plan to return for another visit with the Warrens.

Athletic Association Has Council Session

The first council meeting of the newly organized athletic association of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school was held Friday. As the school building has no auditorium, it is not possible to hold a school assembly.

Each class is represented in this council by two members, elected by majority vote. The president, Melville Walker, presided. Committees were appointed to draw up a constitution and to take charge of other business matters.

Present were Wayne Gulick, vice president; Dorothy Forbes, secretary; Miss Sharpe, treasurer. Council members attending were Richard White, Billy Ockey, Raymond Moniot, Francis Keogh, Robert St. Clair, Henry Brummel, Harold Campbell, Helen White, Eunice Jones, Jean Williams, Elojsa Madrid, Louise Kopp, Lolita Parker, Catherine Doll.

Dinner will be at 1:30 o'clock.

Lewis M'Gee Writes Of European Crisis

R. M. McGee of 128 South Isabel street is in receipt of a letter from his son, Lewis W. McGee, who is chief radio operator of the United States naval communication service of Europe. McGee, who has been in the navy ten years, is known to a number of "old-time" Glendalians, he having formerly been a student in the Glendale High school. Since his enlistment he has never had an opportunity of coming home for a visit.

McGee, who is now stationed in Poitiers, France, was recently transferred to that city from Vienna, Austria, where he was stationed about two years.

In speaking of the conditions in the European countries he wrote that the winter season has already started and that it seems impossible for many of the poor people to exist through the cold months. Money continues to become more scarce and less valuable, while fuel and food are going up in price at the rate that will prohibit thousands from enjoying life as they should.

In closing Mr. McGee wrote that "the people here are of the opinion that the United States is 'cuckoo' over prohibition, claiming that the country is dry in name only."

GLENDALE Y. M. C. A. DRIVE GOES OVER TOP, BELIEF

Workers Meet at Luncheon to Hear Sum of $5,000 Has Been Subscribed

According to all indications, the drive to raise $5,000 with which to carry on the work of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. for the coming year will be a success.

Final reports from the various teams are expected to be in this afternoon. A luncheon of the workers was also to be held at noon at the Christian church.

At the meeting yesterday noon it was announced that $3,600 of the amount needed had been subscribed. It was also found that up to that time the "Live Y'ers," under the leadership of W. A. Horn, were just $45 ahead. Following the enthusiastic meeting yesterday, the "Go-Getters" under C. W. Ingledue, announced that they intended to make up the difference "and then some."

Meet at Luncheon

The luncheon yesterday was served by women of the church under the direction of Mrs. Eva N. Hutton. David Black presided at the meeting.

As the various reports were made there was frequent cheering, until when the meeting broke up there seemed to be little doubt but what the men would put the campaign across in a big way.

About 100 men have been taking part in the canvass.

Unofficial reports made to Rex C. Kelley, the local secretary, this morning, indicated that there was also a possibility that an even greater sum than has been asked for will be secured.

Appreciate Support

"We thoroughly appreciate the support which the citizens of Glendale are giving," said Mr. Kelley, "and I am certain that those who look into the work which the organization is doing will feel that any money pledged will go toward building a better Glendale."

No membership fee is charged by the Y. M. C. A. in this city, and for that reason all of its expenses must be met by voluntary subscription, it is announced.

Jot C. Wood Here to Establish Home

One of Glendale's newest residents and most enthusiastic boosters is Jot C. Wood, who arrived two weeks ago from San Francisco, bringing his family, to reside at 630 East Lomita avenue.

Mr. Wood is manufacturers' agent for eastern cigar manufacturing concerns for twelve western states and Alaska and Honolulu and has lived in California during the past twenty-seven years.

"We are in love with Glendale," Mr. Wood says, "and we never want to live any place else. We have bought two beautiful lots in Verdugo Woodlands, where we expect to build our home.

"When I came to California twenty-seven years ago from Kentucky I lived at Anaheim and later in Los Angeles and I always appreciated this part of southern California. Before there was little more than a village where Glendale is today I used to talk of the wonderful possibilities and probabilities of a city being located at the foot of the Verdugo hills and it has all come true and we are very happy to be able to come here to make our home."

Junior Music Club In Masquerade Party

Witches and ghosts stalked about Miss Hazel Linkogel's studio home at 214 East Chestnut street last night, when the Junior Music club enjoyed a Hallowe'en masquerade party.

All the guests arrived in costume to find Miss Linkogel's home cleverly decorated for the affair. Pine needles were strewn over the floor, while a watches' den with smoking rustic tripod, corn stalks, owls, cats and bats, yellow and black draperies and a brilliant moon shining through eucalyptus branches further carried out the Hallowe'en atmosphere.

Bobbing for apples, fortune telling, toasting marshmallows, progressive ghost stories and dancing were enjoyed and a short program given.

The program was announced by Miss Gertrude Champlain and included, vocal number, "Smiling Eyes," by Claude Whitfield; piano numbers, "Gollywogs' Cakewalk" (Debussey), "A Curious Story" (Shuman), Miss Lois Almstead; "The Green Little Apples," boys' glee club; solo dance by Waunita Adams and Max Smith, cousins of the hostess.

Late in the evening cider and doughnuts were served.

JUVENILE COURT MEETING

The members of the juvenile court committees of the various parent teacher associations will meet at the home of the Glendale federation chairman, Mrs. W. H. Dotson, 333 West Harvard street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB MASQUERADE IS LARGE SUCCESS

Pendroy Social Organization Gives Delightful Affair In C. of C. Hall

Fun was the one big idea most thoroughly carried out at the masquerade "tacky" party given last night at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium by the members of the Pendroy Progressive Club, of which Dale Ludwig is president, and attended by over 100 guests.

This club is composed of the fifty employes of Pendroy's Department store and each member was allowed to bring guests.

Music for dancing was furnished by a three-piece orchestra. The Hallowe'en colors and motifs were carried out in the decorative scheme.

Santa Claus There

George Damon, dressed as Santa Claus, was chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Miss Helen Kapus, Ruth Van Court, L. Knudson and Don Cowlin. The members of the refreshment committee, which included Mrs. E. Williams, chairman, Miss Maude Gammill, Miss Dorothy Haig, Miss Macourt, E. Albright and F. Templeton, served coffee, doughnuts, sweet cider, and popcorn balls during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pendroy led the grand march, during which prizes were awarded for the most clever costumes. Mr. Pendroy represented a policeman and Mrs. Pendroy was dressed as a "colored" society belle.

The judging of costumes proved to be a most difficult task on account of the originality displayed. Mrs. Ruth Van Court dressed as a "flapper" won the first woman's prize and George B. Karr the men's prize.

Ghosts Are Stubborn

Four ghosts refused to unmask after the march, but this was done by forceful persuasion on the part of E. C. Pendroy, and the ghosts proved to be Miss H. Drake, Miss Helen Kapus, Miss Florence Pierson and Miss Marie Clemmens.

A great deal of hilarity was added to the evening's fun by the antics of two "gobs," who proved to be Messrs. Knudson and Ludwig. J. Swearingin, dressed as an overgrown boy, also added much to the evening's fun.

Hallowe'en Program Entertains Fathers

Over 100 parents and friends of the Broadway P-T. A. responded to the invitation to attend a "Fathers' Nite" affair last night at the school.

Hallowe'en ideas were carried out in the decorations and a most enjoyable entertainment program was presented with Mrs. H. R. Archibald of Pasadena, president of the district P.-T. A., as the speaker. Mrs. Archibald spoke on the general subject "P.-T. A. Work."

Other numbers of the program were violin selections by Julius Kranz, accompanied by Miss Alma Geiger; vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Mottern; piano numbers by Mrs. W. D. Phillips; a "Garden Dance" by Ann Elizabeth Wilkinson, and a whistling solo by Doris Forbes.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served.

J. O. C. Class Enjoys Pleasing Masquerade

The J. O. C. class of the First Methodist church was the guest last night in the church parlors of the young men's Bible class at a Hallowe'en masquerade.

A nonsensical dissertation on "Women" was given by C. C. Cunningham of 1224 North San Fernando road, president of the young men's class. He made a number of startling disclosures.

A sermon on "Old Mother Hubbard" was delivered with many gestures amid much laughter by Mrs. J. H. Payne of 131 North Everett street, who was made up as a darkey preacher.

A solo was sung by Charles Hesamalch who was made up as a prima donna.

About 175 persons were present at the party. Games were played and the usual Hallowe'en pastimes enjoyed.

Refreshments consisted of pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee.

F. V. Shuck's Parents to Make Home Here

Friends of Fred V. Shuck and his sister, Miss E. M. Shuck, who have a music store at 211 North Brand boulevard., will be interested to know that their parents have come to Glendale to live and are to make their home at 344 West Myrtle street.

Fred V. Shuck came to Glendale two years ago and opened a music store, and last spring he was joined by his sister. When they visited their parents in the east this summer they persuaded them to motor back to California with them.

SIX TOWNS ALMOST ENTIRELY WITHOUT WATER

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 31.—Six towns in this district are almost entirely without water and many other towns have a shortage that is alarming. Nearly all reservoirs are dry or nearing exhaustion. So far the prolonged drouth has not affected coal mining, but water for steam purposes at the collieries is getting dangerously short. The Schuylkill river is lower than at any time in the memory of the oldest inhabitants. Even artisan wells show signs of failing.

U. S. GOVERNMENT OPPOSES DEBT CANCELLATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—While the United States is willing to participate in any world economic conference that would give promise of stabilizing world conditions, this government, nevertheless, will participate in no conference that has to do with suggestions of cancellation of foreign indebtedness, it was said at the White House this afternoon. This statement of policy was called forth by the suggestion of Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, that the United States initiate a world-wide economic and financial conference. It was reiterated at the White House that President Harding does not consider the present time propitious for such a conference.

JUSTICE OF U. S. COURT OF APPEALS RESIGNS TODAY

His resignation was accepted by President Harding, who sent him a letter extolling his twenty-one years of work in the customs service. Judge Devries resigned to enter law practice. "On December 31," he wrote to Mr. Harding, "I would have completed thirty continuous years in the public service, all my time and energy having been devoted to that service. It now becomes incumbesnt upon me in the interests of the welfare of my family and self to retire to the practice of my profession." Judge Devries is a native of the state of California.

'LIVING WAGE' NOT ENOUGH, DECLARES EDSEL FORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The "living wage," denounced by the United States railroad labor board as fantastic, is not enough, Edsel Ford declared here today. "We believe," said the son of the great Detroit manufacturer, here on a tour of inspection for Ford's western plants, "in paying a man enough so that he can maintain his family in proper respect, can give his wife and children the home life they are entitled to, can buy his own home and have a garden with it." Ford declared that his firm spent $100,000 in an effort to find out what a living wage was. "While we could not arrive at any definite figure, we decided that the figure we were paying was too small and set a minimum of $5 a day when $2.50 was the prevailing wage. Our minimum is now $6 for an eight-hour day."

MERITS OF KING TAX BILL SUBJECT OF ARGUMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The way was paved today for an argument in federal district court on the merits of the battle of the state to compel payment of the increased taxes provided by the King tax bill by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads. Through dismissal of pending applications for permanent injunctions by United States District Judge Frank S. Deitrich of Idaho, sitting for Judge M. T. Dooling, Attorney General Webb was able to bring to a head the case which involves at present $2,700,000 in taxes and will involve double that amount before decision is rendered. These are the differences between the old tax rates and the new ones imposed by the King bill passed after one of the hardest legislative fights in the history of the state. Many expert witnesses were on hand to testify in the case. After the preliminary hearings and arguments a master in chancery will be appointed to take detailed testimony in the case, it was expected today.

MEXICO CONTINUES BOYCOTT ON NEW YORK STATE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—President Obregon of Mexico today issued an order through the foreign office declaring that Article 33 of the constitution, dealing with deportation of undesirables, should be applied to Howard T. Oliver, president of the Oliver American Trading corporation, should he come to this country. The Oliver American Trading corporation recently secured a court order at New York attaching funds of the Mexican government, but it was vacated by the higher courts upon representations of the American state department. Mexico has boycotted New York state commercially and President Obregon has ordered Chief of the Cabinet P. Elais Calles to notify all state governments to cease doing business with all firms located in New York state. Obregon said that this action was taken because the New York courts did not permit the Mexican government to obtain redress on contracts such as those made by the treasury department in purchase of ships.

CLARA PHILLIPS OPENS MURDER CHARGE DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Clara Phillips opened her defense this afternoon to the charge of having beaten to death with a hammer, Mrs. Alberta Meadows last July in Montecito drive. There was no morning session today due to the death of a relative of one of the jurors. Defense Attorney Bert Herrington's first move was to call Mrs. Phillips' two sisters, Miss Ola and Etta Weaver, who were to testify that on numerous occasions, since her majority, Mrs. Phillips' adult mind reverted to the simplicity of a child. This will be backed up by numerous witnesses who will lay the foundation for the introduction of several depositions taken in Texas pertaining to "memory lapses" suffered by Mrs. Phillips, Herrington said. Following these witnesses, Herrington said he would call a battery of five alienists who have examined Mrs. Phillips and declared she has "a child's mind." Both Mrs .Phillips and her husband, Armour L. Phillips, will take the stand before the defense closes its case, Herrington said today. The prosecution rested its case late yesterday.

LYMAN B. ASHTON AND WIFE HAVE ANNIVERSARY

Celebrate Golden Wedding In Company of Friends; Recall Pioneer Days

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bosserman of 614 South Central avenue were at home last night to about 100 guests honoring Mr. and Mrs. Lyman B. Ashton, parents of Mrs. Bosserman, and in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton. The house was a bower of beautiful yellow and golden chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton were married fifty years ago in Trinity Cathedral, Michigan City, Indiana, by the Rev. Brass. Both were born in Michigan City and lived there until coming to Glendale with Mr. and Mrs. Bosserman ten years ago.

Several guests were present last night who attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton, including Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hamm of Michigan City, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a year ago.

Wears Wedding Dress

Mrs. Ashton wore her wedding dress just as it was when she was married in it fifty years ago. It was of white Japanese silk, trimmed in silk lace and silk fringe, long train, pointed bodice buttoned in the back, and with the skirt made with the old fashioned bustle, which was quite in the mode in '72. Mr. Ashton's costume also included part of that worn by him at his wedding, and the heavy white silk brocaded vest called for a great deal of attention from the many guests.

From 7 o'clock until 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Ashton received their guests and beginning then a very delightful musical program was given by Miss Myra Belle Vickers and her "Double Duo," the members of which include Mrs. Ruth Bresson Payette and Gladys Blackwell Pickering, Katherine Snyder and Mildred Masser. The numbers given by them included "When You and I Were Young Maggie" (Butterfield), "Just Been Wondering All Day" (Canning), "Mother Machree" (Ball), "Darby and Joan" (Molloy), "Sing Me Love's Lullaby" (Durenza), "Whispering Hope" (Hawthorne), "Swanee River Moon" (Clark), "The Hand of You" (Bond), "By the Waters if Minnetonka" (Lieurance), "Old Fashioned Garden" (Porter).

Report Shows Train Hit; Many Injured

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 31. — Four employes of a carnival company were probably fatally injured and ten other persons hurt at 5 o'clock this morning when Southern Pacific passenger train No. 109, which left New Orleans last night, ran into the rear end of Wortham Brothers' show train at Adeline, La., according to meager reports received at Southern Pacific offices this morning. The injury to fourteen had been established, but no cause of the collision was yet evident.

Youth is better than wealth; but the unfortunate fact is, youth doesn't know it.

Surprise Promised In Wilkens Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31. — Four witnesses were on hand today when court opened to furnish the "eleventh hour surprise" promised by Defense Counsel Frank Murphy in the murder trial of Henry Wilkens.

Leo Brennan, awaiting trial for burglary, was one of the witnesses. Murphy indicated the testimony would bear upon his charge the case against Wilkens was "framed."

Senor Roland Ricci Recalled From U. S.

ROME, Oct. 31. — Announcement was made at the foreign office today that Deputy Mussolini, the new premier-foreign minister, would recall at once Senor Roland Ricci, Italian ambassador to the United States.

Ambassador Ricci has been in Italy on vacation for about six months. Rumors that he was to be deprived of his post has been denied by the foreign office.

NEW TYPE OF SEA SCOOTER GAINS GREAT SPEED

Here is the new type of sea scooter, invented by L. T. Savage of Ayer, Mass., traveling at a water speed of thirty-five miles an hour. This scooter draws but an inch and a half of water, and when slowed down, draws but five inches of water. The scooter is fitted to carry six passengers, is non-sinkable and non-capsizeable. The sea scooter is certain to become popular at the Florida winter resorts that are close enough to the West Indies to permit of quick trips back and forth.

CONSORTIUM FOR CHINESE FINANCE

Government Money Finds Its Way to Private Purse; Politics Profitable

PEKING. — China moves towards the consortium. Each week brings the officials closer to their financial limit. A discovery of funds remaining from the Russian indemnity customs allotment has permitted them to realize today ten million dollars. But this is just enough to tide the government over the autumn festival, when all debts must be settled.

The school teachers and professors have not been paid for five months, the various clerks and workers in the different departments not for three months, and the police and soldiers not for two months to a year. This newly discovered ten million will provide one month's salary for the great army of the unpaid. Two million will go to the high-up officials for purposes unknown.

Only Feasible Plan

But the day for the consortium comes nearer, provided that the international bankers still intend to do business as before. Public opinion is steadily swinging in favor of such an arrangement, especially the provision, so unpopular among the politicians, of strict supervision of all money advanced. The more thinking classes of Chinese say that it is necessary if the Chinese people are to receive the benefit.

Of former loans it has been estimated that approximately 5 cents out of every dollar went for proper government purposes. As a result the business of politics was far more profitable than any other field of endeavor, including trade and commerce. There are a score or more of cases during the last ten years of officials retiring from office with great fortunes. Most of China's recent northern millionaires acquired their wealth in this manner.

Closes Fruitful Source

By insisting that money loaned for the construction of a railroad be used for the railroad and for that alone, and the same for money advanced for other purposes, the most fruitful source of revenue will be closed to high officials, especially if foreign inspectors are installed. Therefore, officials have used every means in their power to combat the principle.

First public demonstrations were carefully organized among the students and others, which protested volubly that foreign supervision would be tantamount to international control of China and thereby an infringement upon the national integrity. The official manipulation in these agitations was discovered, and they gradually subsided.

Next came a series of strikes on the various public utilities, especially the railroads. The chief demand of the workers was that no foreign supervision should be permitted. Coolies whose average wage was $3 a month, voiced a scholastic concern in the priority of certain bonds of the roads and were apparently little interested in an increase of pay. Investigation revealed the fact that the workers were not striking, but were merely ceasing work upon orders from the higher officials. Then the strikes collapsed.

Varied Arguments

Finally the plea is put forth that the government must have funds at once to protect lives and property. On one hand the increasing internal disorders are advertised and on the other the arrears in pay of the soldiers and police are put forward. The losses which will result to foreign business as a result of future disorders are luridly painted. It has even been rumored in the capital that some special and sensational looting affair may be staged here for the purpose of driving home this danger to the foreign legations.

The Chinese bankers and business men, as well as the great mass of the hard working and industrious people, have no sympathy with the government officials. It has now been proposed by the chambers of commerce that the foreign bankers should aid them in holding back such portions of the customs and salt funds from the government as may be necessary to directly pay the police of Peking and the soldiers stationed in and about the city. A few months ago $100,000 was released from the customs funds to the ministry of finance to pay certain regiments of Wu Pei-fu just outside the south gates. When the money was actually remitted to the division paymaster only $30,000 was left.

"We certainly had a dandy trip," remarked Mr. Bradbury. "We had nice weather all the way, outside of one night that it rained. We got twenty-five ducks. We should have gotten more, but they aren't flying much now. It is too early for them."

Subject Announced for Church Meeting

At the regular Wednesday night people's meeting at the Congregational church, Eagle Rock, tomorrow night, Rev. E. Morgan Isaacs will take as his subject "The Faith That Heals."

Rev. Isaacs will explain in part how multitudes of people are sick and fail to find any cure for their sickness. Some are almost in despair over their condition. They wonder how Jesus healed the sick. They have been told that if they have faith enough they may be healed. But few of them have been told just what faith is.

These meetings as Rev. Isaacs explains, should not be confused with regular church meetings. Present-day subjects of much local interest are discussed, and last Wednesday it is reported that the meeting drew ahe largest crowd since they started some time ago. It is expected that tomorrow night's crowd will be even larger.

BRYAN IS FOR RANDALL

While in Los Angeles last week to address a great audience of women in favor of the Wright law, William Jennings Bryan issued a public statement regarding the congressional contest in the Ninth district. He said:

"As a believer in prohibition, I would, if a citizen of California, be proud to vote for Charles H. Randall because of his splendid service to prohibition when the fight was at its height; as a Democrat, I would be glad to vote for him because he stands with the masses on all economic questions."

City Clerk Ben Martsolf has been officially instructed to notify Miss Anna D. Feaster, the owner of the building at 113 South Central avenue, that the city will turn the building over to her on or before that date.

No indication has yet been given as to what use this building is to be put when the city vacates.

NO POOL ROOM OR BILLIARD HALL IN EAGLE ROCK

Application Is Denied at Meeting Last Night of Board of Trustees

There is to be no pool room or billiard hall in Eagle Rock, at least not for the present. This was indicated last night when the board of trustees denied the application of Jay Bonner to conduct such an establishment at 128 South Castle avenue.

Mr. Bonner had made application a week ago, and had been notified that action on his application would be made in one week's time.

The application was denied when Mrs. J. B. Squire, president of the Central school, Parent-Teachers' association, protested the granting of the permit to the board of trustees at their meeting last night.

The application of A. M. Wight of Los Angeles to operate a gasoline filling station at the corner of Colorado boulevard and Los Roble avenue was continued for another week to give property owners in the neighborhood opportunity to express themselves as to whether or not they had objections for a filling station to be located at that point.

P.-T. A. AFFAIR FOR TOMORROW NIGHT AT SCHOOL

Program Announced Which Includes Free Picture Show, Refreshments

The Parent-Teachers' association will hold an interesting entertainment at the Central school house in Eagle Rock tomorrow night.

There is to be a vocal quartet composed of a group of teachers, and several musical numbers by groups of school children.

A free picture show, "How Life Begins," issued by the Bureau of Social Hygene of the California State Board of Health, telling the story of how new plants and animals come into existence, which, it is said, took over eighteen month to make, will be thrown on the screen.

This picture was made by George E. Stone, A. B., in collaboration with J. A. Long, P. H. D., University of California. It is hoped that all mothers and friends will attend, and there are to be refreshments served in the rotunda of the building, states Mrs. Essie D. Koen, one of the teachers in charge.

BEARS TO MEET WASHINGTON NEXT

California In Good Shape for Game on Saturday; Then to Seattle

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The traditional day of rest having refreshed the hardy athletes of the various institutions going in for the game of football, their gridiron mentors called them forth today for a strenuous session designed to eliminate weak spots which showed up in last week's games.

California, in good shape despite the gruelling contest at Pasadena Saturday, went to work in earnest for the two games with Washington's leading exponents of the pigskin pastime. Washington State appears at Berkeley on next Saturday. A unique feature of the game is the fact that it is to start promptly at 2 p. m.

At Seattle Next

The following Saturday the Bears go to Seattle to meet Washington university.

Stanford's Cardinal eleven appeared today at last to be rounding into form. Nevada journeys to Palo Alto Saturday and this game will serve as a seasoner to the Cardinals' clash the following Saturday with University of Southern California down south.

All of the bay region teams were lucky Saturday in coming through with few injuries. Fred Luedeke, giant Stanford lineman, suffered a wrenched shoulder at Corvallis, but is mending rapidly.

Eagle Rock Tigers Prepare for Trojans

Joe "Timberwolf" Pipal, high mogul of athletics at Occidental college and regarded as one of the shrewdest mentors in the southern California conference, is working overtime this week in his attempts to prepare the fighting Tigers of Eagle Rock for their hardest contest of the season next Saturday—the annual struggle with Coach Henderson's U. S. C. warriors. Little hope is being held out for a victory, the followers of the Black and Orange eleven having already resigned themselves to a setback at the hands of the formidable Trojan crew. The one big thing now is to attempt to hold the score down.

That the Oxy squad is an entirely different eleven from the one which was defeated 35 to 0 several weeks ago by the University of Nevada was recently demonstrated when the Tigers overwhelmed the fast Southern Branch team. Pipal's two ends, Tony Spangler and Cliff Argue, have developed overnight into the most valuable pair of flankmen in the conference. It was the direct result of the work of these two in the S. B. U. C.-Occidental tussle which turned the tide of victory to the Tigers, each one blocking a punt near the Branch goal line.

Nervous Stomach CAUSES GAS

Gas in the stomach and bowels doesn't always result from dyspepsia, improper diet or the fermentation of food. In most cases it is due to a highly sensitive condition of the stomach nerves.

To get rid of the trouble, you must build up and strengthen these weak, irritated nerves of the stomach. Taking artificial digesters, such as pepsin or bismuth, only makes the stomach weaker than ever. It is like using dope to deaden a pain—the relief given is deceptive and harmful.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets act directly upon the affected nerves and gradually assist in restoring them to their natural, healthy state. Gas and bloating will quickly disappear, and you will no longer be bothered with pain around your heart, palpitation, shortness of breath, gnawing at the pit of the stomach or distress after eating, due to gas. Ask for Baalmann's Gas Tablets in the famous yellow package. Price $1. Sold by Roberts & Echols. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

CLASSY CARD IS OFFERED TONIGHT

Danny Kramer and Young George In Main Event at Doyle's Ring Factory

Jack Doyle's renowned Vernon boxing arena will be the scene tonight of as classy a card as the average ring fan would care to witness, according to announcements coming forth from Los Angeles boxing circles. Heading the bill will be a tussle which should keep the fans on their feet from start to finish—Danny Kramer and Young George being the two principals in the performance. Both of these battlers have long since established themselves as sterling ring artists in the minds of Southern California followers.

Kramer, who is famed for the "loaded dynamite" which he carries in his left mitt, will go into the fray as the underdog, due to his handicap in weight of some seven or eight pounds. The fighting little southpaw claims that he will overcome this handicap, however, his only statement being, "Wait and see." Both men have been in active training for several weeks and they are scheduld to be in the proverbial "pink" when the opening gong is sounded.

Other bouts arranged by Matchmaker "Wad" Wadhams are as follows: Ray Shaner vs. Frankie Novie, Billy Velardi vs., "Red" Davis, Joe Thomas vs. Johnny McGraw, Eddie Bowen vs. Eddie Bird, and Louie Steigmeyer vs. Steve Bliss.

Trojans May Close Schedule With Rush

Now that Henderson's big game of the season is over it is generally thought that he will open up in full force and fury against the opposition during the remainder of the schedule. In all probability he will start Saturday's game against the Occidental with the same lineup which stepped on the field against California last week. Dolley at quarter, Kincaid and Campbell at halves and "Ironsides" Baker at full proved to be a wonderfully capable combination, while Milton and Boice performed such a game at the end positions as is seldom seen anywhere.

On the other hand, Henderson may hold his men in check for the annual contest with Stanford, which is to take place at the Palo Alto stadium the following week.

Murder Witness In War on Camera Men

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 31.—Angered by the persistence of photographers who were trying to take her picture against her wishes, Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman farmer and eye-witness of the double murder of Dev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, and Mrs. James Mills, the choir singer, fired upon them with a shotgun early today. Although she knelt and took careful aim she failed to hit any of the photographers.

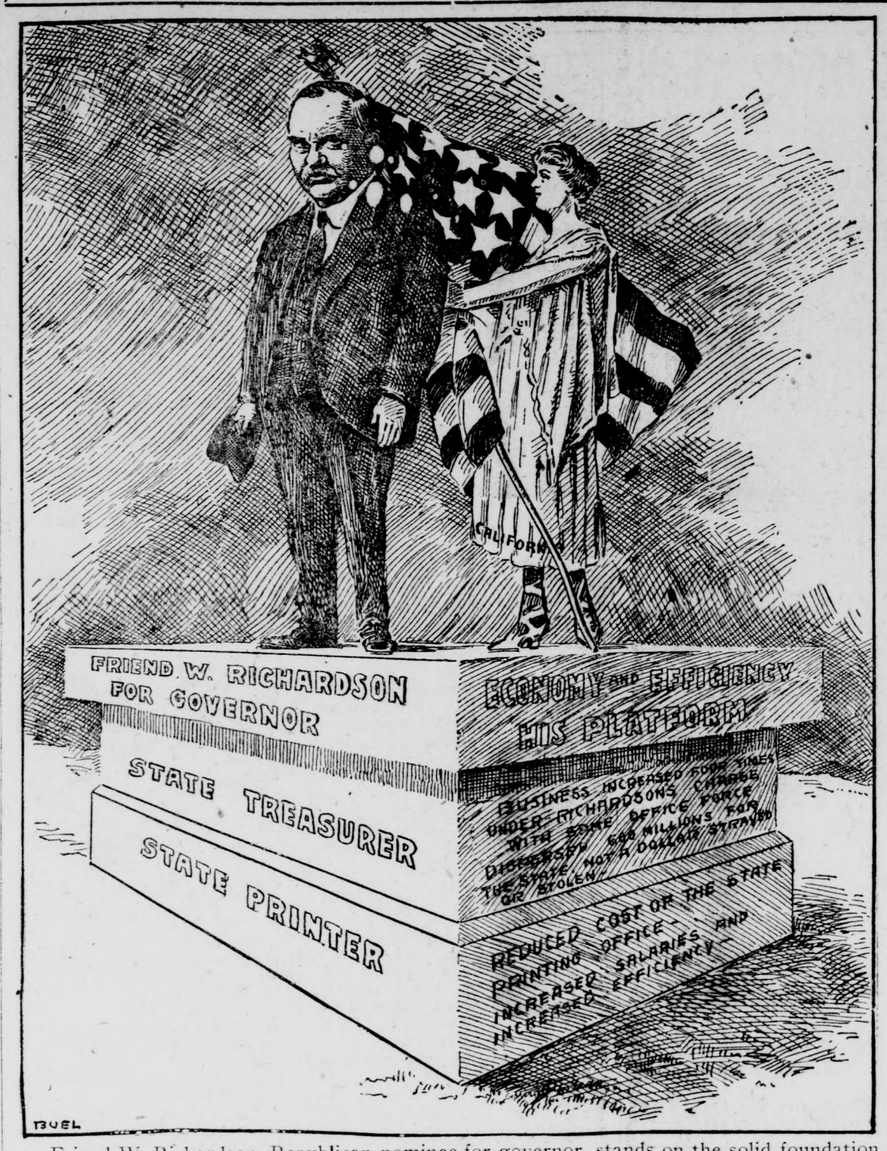

A motor car containing a group of "hard boiled picture takers" drove up to the Gibson farm house in the morning. Mrs. Gibson, whose patience had been exhausted by her efforts to evade photographers, motioned to them to go away. They failed to do so.

Mrs. Gibson then stepped from the house with a shotgun in her hands. Again she motioned to the photographers to go away. Instead of complying they started to get out of the car. It was then that Mrs. Gibson fired.

The man at the wheel without waiting for orders, stepped on the gas and the car disappeared in a cloud of dust.

He Stands On His Record

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for governor, stands on the solid foundation of his public record as state printer and state treasurer. He has pledged himself to save the people of California millions of dollars without hampering any HUMANE, EDUCATIONAL or PROGRESSIVE function, and he will do it.

Friend W. Richardson, Candidate for Governor, Declares Salaries of School Teachers Will Not Be Cut Through Any Act of His; Aid to Farmers and Oriental Exclusion, Some of His Pledges

Friend W. Richardson, Republican candidate for governor of California, last night delivered an address at a banquet given in honor of Los Angeles county newspaper editors by the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce.

"The only issue in the campaign for governor of California," said Mr. Richardson, "is the issue of economy and efficiency in state affairs.

"I am carrying my message direct to the people; that message is economy with efficiency; smash the machine; abolish sinecures; substitute business for politics; put highway construction in the hands of roadbuilders; give aid to our war heroes; enforce the laws justly and fearlessly; maintain humane and progressive policies; keep the schools free from politics and support them to the fullest extent—and save the people millions of dollars."

Better Education

Mr. Richardson asserted that his wet Democratic opponent has done everything possible to becloud the issues in the campaign and to misinform the people.

"The opposition would have you believe," he said, "that I would starve the insane, cripple the schools and otherwise introduce a niggardly policy in state affairs. As a matter of fact I have agreed to increase efficiency at the same time I reduce costs. I know what I can do and what I cannot do as governor.

"If I am elected I shall seek to strengthen all proper state functions. I want California schools better than they are now, and you can depend upon it that no salary of any school teacher will be reduced by any act of mine. The education of the youth of the state I consider a matter of the greatest importance and I will encourage a broader program in an endeavor to have education in this state rank higher than it ranks at this time.

Much Money Wasted

"As state treasurer I have been in a position to see the reckless extravagance practiced and to known where and how the costs of government can be reduced without hampering any humane, progressive or educational function of the state. I have made a careful study of the state's financial affairs. I have watched the money flow out from day to day. I have repeatedly, during the past six years, warned the people of the financial shoals ahead. I do not want the governorship as a stepping stone for further honors, and hence do not need to build up a political machine.

"I yield to no man in allegiance to progressive legislation, which I have helped to form and place upon the statute books and which should be encouraged, protected and cherished.

Support All Ticket

"As a Republican nominee I am loyally supporting the entire Republican ticket. The progressive platform of the Republican state convention has my earnest approval. I am in entire harmony with all forward-looking and loyal Republicans.

"I favor every possible aid to farmers, good roads, fair dealing to labor, oriental exclusion, and protection of life and property.

"The constitution and the laws should be strictly enforced, and those appointed to administer the law should be its friends and not its foes. I have been a consistent dry all of my life. The constitution of the United States and acts of congress have outlawed the liquor traffic. Any modification of the law governing the manufacture, sale or distribution of liquor must be made by congress and approved by the United States supreme court. The governor of California has no power to give anyone light wine or beer or other intoxicating beverages, light or heavy. On the other hand the governor is sworn to support the law.

Reduction In Budget

"If elected, I will present to the 1923 legislature a budget from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 less than the $91,000 appropriated in 1921. I will do this without injuring any humane, progressive or educational function of the state, and at the same time improve the efficiency of the various departments.

"I pledge myself, if elected, to decide every question on its merits, without regard to my own political advancement.

"I will strive to give the people an economical, just and efficient government. I point to my record in office as a guarantee of what I will do as governor."

How We Co-operate

Says "Common Cent":

"Imagine, if you can, a world without money. The farmer would have to barter his bushel of wheat for a pair of shoes. If he had two bushels of wheat and needed but a single pair of shoes, he would have to put his spare bushel aside, where perhaps, the rats could reach it."

"I was invented as an easy medium of exchange. I help keep the wheels of commerce turning. If you need me not today, lay me by for tomorrow. Winds, storms and pests cannot attack me. I 'stay put' and I multiply—ready until the day comes for you to put me to good use."

Money is perhaps the most sought-after thing in life. Yet money, in itself, is valueless. The miser hoards his coins in nooks and crannies out-of-the-way. But what has he but a pot of cold, hard bits of metal to delight his greedy touch? The wise man sees in money but the means to a definite goal. He stores it not in secret places, but in his Bank, where he sees it grow and work for him—money earning money.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With more talk of another match between Benny Leonard, the lihtweight boxing champion, and Charlie White, the perennial challenger of champions, it is likely that all hands will have lost count of the number of times the Chicago boy has had a chance at the title. Certainly no other boxer in the history of the ring ever had more opportunities to gather in the coveted crown and as often failed. When one considers the great little boxers who went through their spell in the game without ever having a chance at the title, the wonder grows in the case of White. He has had more than half a dozen fights in which the victory would have placed him at the top rung of the ladder in his weight division.

For two years followers of track and field athletics have been waiting and watching for Porhola of Finland to break Ralph Rose's weight heaving world's record of 51 feet, but as yet Rose's record stands. Rose made this record in San Francisco in 1909 and since that time was, himself, the only man in the world able to equal it. Strange as it may seem, on four different occasion—three of them in the course of one day—Rose heaved the shot exactly 51 feet, but was unable to gather in the fraction which would have broken his own mark. The time since Rose made his record represents two generations of competing athletes, if not three.

The dearth of long distance runners in this country was demonstrated in the last Olympic games, and although two years have passed since that time, there seems to be no cinder path man on the horizon for the lengthy trail. Whether or not the United States will ever develop men in this event remains to be seen. In all probability the reason for the dearth of such performers is occasioned by the fact that athletes can turn their attention to events that do not require the hard work entailed in the distance events. Americans have a way of chopping up their long distances and letting relays of men go over set portions. There is no nation in the world that goes in for relay racing as do Americans.

Armistice day, the new holiday on the world's calendar, bids fair to rank with Thanksgiving Day as an athletic events day. In fact, it is likely to be more of a competitive day, inasmuch as it comes earlier in the month and, as far as the east is concerned, is not so near the frost line when the ground becomes hard for turf events.

Jack Bentley, Star Pitcher, for Giants

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Purchase of Jack Bentley, star lefthand pitcher and slugging first baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, was regarded by baseball men today as virtually assuring the New York Giants of another National league pennant.

It is understood Bentley's purchase was for $50,000 and four players to be selected by the giants.

Film coated teeth decay soonest

Premature and rapid decay of teeth is nearly always due to neglect of the film that forms upon and clings to them. Not merely hundreds or thousands but literally millions of germs are found in this film and it abounds in decomposing food substance and the acid that causes Pyorrhea.

To retard decay and to add years to the life, health and service of your teeth by keeping them clean and white that is the purpose of

WHY ELECT RANDALL TO CONGRESS?

Randall Favors the Soldiers' Bonus—

—Not as charity, but in the interest of justice and national honor. He opposes Wall Street's play of paying it by a sales tax. An extra burden on an overburdened people. Instead, he favors its payment by the war profiteers and grafters who made millions out of the people during the war, besides actually robbing the government. Elect Randall and he will help to uncover their theft. He will never vote to protect them.

Randall Has a Clean Labor Record—

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Every champion worthy of the name, Dempsey, Siki, Leonard, Greb, Villa and Britton, is to appear in a New York ring before the end of the current indoor season, according to the rapidly maturing plans of Tex Rickard.

The tentative program is to include these features to wit:

Jack Dempsey vs. Tom Gibbons for a December date.

Battling Siki, the colored gentleman, vs. Kid Norfolk, likewise brunette, some time in February.

Benny Leonard vs. Charley White, the date to be determined at the convenience of Mr. Leonard's pestiferious gums.

Harry Greb vs. Gene Tunney, at such time as Mr. Rickard can get around to it.

Jack Britton vs. Micky Walker as early as tomorrow night.

Villa vs. Abe Goldstein, November 15.

The other title holders, actual or alleged, the same including Johnny Kilbane, Joe Lynch, Johnny Wilson, Dave Rosenberg, and Johnny Dundee, are not worthy of his consideration, Mr. Rickard intimated.

The Dempsey-Gibbons affair is simmering right at the moment. Rickard will have a conference with Jack Kearns today and if the latter is amenable to reason, the bout will be signed, sealed and delivered forthwith.

Rickard is in receipt of a letter from M. Hellers, manager of Siki, in which the promise of the Senegalese's appearance is made. The promoter declined to make the letter public, but seemed to be satisfied with whatever explanation was offered on the business of Siki turning up missing for an earlier date, with Norfolk.

Postpone Battle of Lightweight Squads

The regularly scheduled Central league football game between the Glendale and Citrus Union High school lightweight squads, which was to have been played on the local gridiron this afternoon, was postponed at the last minute. The postponement was brought about through the good sportsmanship of the Glendale authorities, who were notified that the Citrus eleven had been severely handicapped by the injury of two of its star players. The game may be played on Armistice Day.

Arbuckle Learns to Write Lefthanded

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former Falstaff of the movies, is today learning how to write with his left hand.

Never again will Arbuckle be able to use the index finger and the finger next to it on his right hand, which have become paralyzed as the result of an injury he sustained while on his recent trip to Japan, it was learned today. Two small but deep scars at the base of the fingers tell the story of Arbuckle's injury and are souvenirs of his Oriental tour which will go through life with him.

Meantime, however, "Fatty" is contemplating a trip east next month, the purpose of which, it is said, is to see Will Hays, "big chief" of the movies.

Land Mine Exploded In Dublin, Report

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—Street firing was in progress here all night following a terrific explosion outside the intelligence department of the Irish Free State army.

Five women and three men were wounded.

A land mine was exploded by several men who escaped in a motor car. The explosion was to have been followed by an attack by republican irregulars but it was frustrated by the vigilance of the free state troops who made many arrests.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

"What do you mean, Byrne?" cried Theriere. "Out with it, now!"

"Sure, I'll out wid it. You didn't tink I was bashful didja? Wot fer did you detail dem two pikers, Miller and Swenson, to guard de skirt fer if it wasn't fer some special frame-up of yer own? Dey never been in our gang, and dat's just wot you wanted 'em fer. It was easy to tip dem off to hike out wid de squab, and de first chanct you get you'll hike after dem, while we hold de bag. Tought you'd double-cross us easy, didn't yeh? Yeh cheap skate!"

"Byrne," said Theriere, and it was easy to see that only through the strength of his willpower did he keep his temper, "you may have cause to suspect the motives of everyone connected with this outfit. I can't say that I blame you; but I want you to remember what I say to you now. There was a time when I fully intended to 'double-cross' you, as you say—that was before you saved my life. Since then I have been on the square with you not only in deed but in thought as well. I give you the word of a man whose word once meant something—I am playing square with you now except in one thing, and I shall tell you what that is at once. I do not know where Miss Harding is, or what has happened to her, and Miller, and Swenson. That is God's truth. Now for the one thing that I just mentioned. Recently I changed my intentions relative to Miss Harding. I was after the money the same as the rest—that I am free to admit; but now I don't give a rap for it, and I had intended taking advantage of the first opportunity to return Miss Harding to civilization unharmed and without the payment of a penny to anyone. The reason for my change of heart is my own affair. In all probability you wouldn't believe the sincerity or honesty of my motives should I disclose them. I am only telling you these things because you have accused me of double dealing, and I do not want the man who saved my life at the risk of his own to have the slightest grounds to doubt my honesty with him. I've been a fairly bad egg, Byrne, for a great many years; but, by George! I'm not entirely rotten yet."

Byrne was silent for a few moments. He, too, had recently come to the conclusion that possibly he was not entirely rotten either, and had in a vague and half-formed sort of way wished for the opportunity to demonstrate the fact, so he was willing to concede to another that which he craved for himself.

"Yeh listen all right, cul," he said at last; "an' I'm willin' to take yeh at yer own say-so until I learn different."

"Thanks," said Theriere tersely. "Now we can work together in the search for Miss Harding; but where, in the name of all that's holy, are we to start?"

"Why, where we seen her last, of course," replied the mucker. "Right here on top of dese bluffs."

"Then we can't do anything until daylight," said the Frenchman.

"Not a ting, and at daylight we'll most likely have a scrap on our hands from below," and the mucker jerked his thumb in the direction of the cove.

"I think," said Theriere," that we had beeter spend an hour arming ourselves with sticks and stones. We've a mighty good position up here. One that we can defend splendidly from an assault from below, and if we are prepared for them we can stave 'em off for a while if we need the time to search about up here for clews to Miss Harding's whereabouts."

And so the party set to work to cut stout bludgeons from the trees about them, and pile loose fragments of rock in handy places near the cliff top. Theriere even went so far as to throw up a low breastwork across the top of the trail up which the enemy must climb to reach the summit of the cliff. When they had completed their preparations three men could have held the place against ten times their own number.

Then they lay down to sleep, leaving Blanco and Divine on guard, for it had been decided that these two, with Bony Sawyer, should be left behind on the morrow to hold the cliff top while the others were searching for clews to the whereabouts of Barbara Harding. They were to relieve each other at guard duty during the balance of the night.

MEET FIRST TIME IN 62 YEARS

Sixty-two years is a life time for many people, but it is a brief span for "Uncle John" Daubney, 103 years old and Minnesota's pioneer citizen. He met N. D. Lammers of Taylors Falls, Minn., for the first time in sixty-two years, and they had a great old time. Uncle John, at the right, used to hold his friend on his knee, and laughed about it. Mr. Lammers, at the left, was one of the numerous friends who attended Uncle John's 103rd birthday, recently observed.

V. T. SOCKETS

The illustration shows a very compact V. T. Socket, suitable for any type of mounting, as the binding posts may be inverted. The base of this socket is genuine bakelite and supports four readily accessible binding posts. The tube receptacle is highly polished nickel and will take any standard make of detector or amplifier tube as well as smaller size power tube.

Although primarily designed for receiving circuits, it may be used with transmitters up to 1000 volts.

Positive connection is assured at all times by the use of four heavy phosphor bronze contact springs. This instrument is an added beauty to any station.

RADIO EXPLAINED

REACTANCE

A steady current in a circuit meets no other hindrance than the resistance of the circuit. If the current changes this is no longer true. If the circuit has inductance the current is opposed by the emf. induced by the variation of the current. If a condenser is present this is constantly charging or discharging as the current changes, and it exerts a controlling influence on the passage of current. If both inductance and capacitance are included in the circuit they tend to offset each other in their effects, but usually one or the others exerts a predominating influence, with the result that there is added to the resistance an extra opposition to the current, which is known as reactance.

The more rapid the changes in the current the greater the induced emf. in a circuit and consequently the greater the inductive reactance. On the contrary, the reactance of a condenser is less the more rapidly the current varies, as can be understood when we reflect that the number of charges and discharges of the condenser performed each second the greater the total quantity of electricity which flows around the circuit in that interval, that is, the greater the current. In general the reactance of a radio circuit is very much greater than the resistance.

To calculate the current in a radio circuit, then, it is necessary to know how to calculate the reactance and how to combine it with the resistance in order to determine the total hindrance or "impedance" to the current. Since the reactance, however, depends upon the way in which the current is varying it is evident that this must be specified definitely in each case. The problem cannot be solved for all imaginable kinds of variations of the current. Radio currents, however, belong to the general class of alternating currents, and for these the theory is rather simple. In the following articles will be given a brief treatment of those alternating current principles which are essential to an understanding of radio.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories
— By HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FALSE FACES

"For goodness sakes, what are you going to do now?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one evening, as she saw Uncle Wiggily come downstairs dressed in one of his oldest and most ragged suits. "You look like a tramp rabbit."

"That's just how I want to look!" chuckled the bunny gentleman.

"You do? You want to look like a tramp rabbit? Why?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Because this is Hallowe'en," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "This is the night when the hobgoblins, the warlocks, the witches and the fairies flit abroad. It is the night when the animal children, as well as the real children, put on false faces and play all sorts of tricks and pranks. Tonight I am going to be a boy rabbit once again!"

"Hum!" murmured Nurse Jane. "To my way of thinking you always act like a boy rabbit—you'll never grow up—you're like Peter Pan!"

"I want to be!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"And are you really going out and play Hallowe'en tricks and wear a false face?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I certainly am," said the bunny gentleman, "and I invite you to come with me, Nurse Jane. The worst that can happen is that you may be hit on the back with an old stocking stuffed with rags or some of the animal boys or girls may tickle you with a feather duster. Come out and have some Hallowe'en fun!"

"Thank you, but I promised to go to the movies with Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady," answered Nurse Jane. "But what sort of a false face are you going to wear, Uncle Wiggily?"

The bunny gentleman looked around the bungalow before answering. He didn't want any of the animal children to know how he would be dressed. He could play more jokes on them if they didn't know him.

"I'm going to be dressed as you see me now, a tramp rabbit," whispered the bunny, "but I'm going to wear the false face of an alarm clock. Won't that be jolly?"

"Yes, I suppose it will!" and Nurse Jane couldn't help laughing at the thought of a tramp rabbit with the false face of an alarm clock prancing about on Hallowe'en.

"Good-by, I'm off!" called the rabbit gentleman. "I'll put on my false face after I look about a bit and see where the most fun is."

Now, though Uncle Wiggily had only whispered to Nurse Jane the kind of false face he was going to wear at Hallowe'en, some one had heard what the rabbit gentleman said. And that some one was the Fuzzy Fox, hidden in the bushes beneath Uncle Wiggily's window. The Fox sneaked out and found the Woozie Wolf.

"We can easily catch Uncle Wiggily now!" whispered the Wolf.

"How?" growled the Wolf.

"He is going to wear the false face of an alarm clock," went on the Fox. "We'll find him in the Hallowe'en crowd—we'll know him by his clocn face and we'll grab him and carry him off to the den to nibble his ears!"

"Good!" snickered the Wolf, but I should call it rather bad; wouldnt you?

So, knowing nothing of what the Fox and Wolf wanted to do to him, Uncle Wiggily put on his false face of an alarm clock, and began moving about among the Hallowe'en fun-makers. He saw Sammie Littletail dressed like a cabbage, and Susie, the sister rabbit, had on a turnip false face. Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, were dressed like scrubbing brushes and Lulu Wibblewabble, the duck, was dressed like a pincushion, only she had no pins on to scratch her friends.

Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily met a friend of his, Mr. Whitewash,

Wearing the false face of a pumpkin pie.

the big, strong polar bear gentleman, with the long, scratchy claws. Mr. Whitewash knew Uncle Wiggily and the bunny knew the Polar Bear.

"I know how we can have some fun," whispered Mr. Whitewash.

"How?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Come behind this lamp post and I'll tell you," whispered Mr. Whitewash, and Uncle Wiggily hid behind the lamp post.

A little later that evening the Fox and Wolf, who had put on false faces of pussy cats, were sneaking along. All of a sudden the Wolf called to the Fox:

"There he is! There's Uncle Wiggily. I see the alarm clock false face! Come on and we'll grab him!"

The two bad animals closed in on the ragged tramp figure wearing the false face of an alarm clock. But suddenly something happened. There was a growl and the Wolf went sailing up into the air and fell down hard. There was another growl and the Fox went sailing through the air, turning somersaults, and landing on his nose with a bump.

Then the figure took off the alarm clock false face and there was—Mr. Whitewash, the Polar Bear! At the same time up came running a Hallowe'en figure wearing the false face of a pumpkin pie, and when that face was taken off there stood—Uncle Wiggily.

"What happened?" asked the bunny, as he saw the Wolf and Fox slinking away.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Whitewash. "I guess those bad chaps didn't know that you and I changed false faces. They thought I was you and they tried to nibble my ears! Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho!"

And Uncle Wiggily also laughed "Ha! Ha! and Ho!-Ho!" For it was a good joke on the Fox and Wolf. Then the Hallowe'en fun went on, but the Fox and Wolf had no part in it. Their noses were too sore.

And if the fire engine doesn't squirt a lot of water on the umbrella and make its feet wet, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's dusting brush.

Fascisti In Pledge of Loyalty to King

ROME, Oct. 31.—Eight persons were reported killed and several wounded in a clash between Fascisti and communists in the Siburtino quarter early today.

Sixty thousand members of the Fascisti made a demonstration of power and loyalty to the King. They marched before the Quirinal with shouts of:

"Long live the King!" and "We are loyal to our King."

Afterwards there was a similar demonstration before the tomb of Italy's unknown warrior. Most of the Fascisti are ex-service men.

The new cabinet, headed by Premier Mussolini, was sworn in and has begun to function.

FULFILLING PROMISES BY PERFORMANCE.

Promises may get friends, but it is performance that must keep them. —Feltham

The test of business vitality is in performance, not in promises. If this were not so, anyone could attain success without effort, simply by setting up an imposing sign or publishing impressive promises of fair dealing.

But few succeed, while many fail. The law is "give and take," and those who chiefly take, without giving "value received," never attain the heights.

Because its promises have been conscientiously and consistently carried out in performance, the L. G. Scovern Co. has succeeded.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

IMMUNITY NO. 11

Immunity, the power which certain living organisms possess of resisting infections, may be natural or acquired. I told you yesterday about natural immunity—that is, the resistance that is naturally inherent in an organism.

Acquired immunity is the immunity, as the name indicates, that is acquired during the lifetime of a person. Acquired immunity may be natural or artificial. "Naturally" acquired immunity is that immunity which is the result of having a disease and recovering from it.

For instance, if you have smallpox and recover from it, you have a natural immunity to smallpox which will probably last you throughout life. If you have diphtheria and recover from it, you have a naturally acquired immunity to diphtheria which lasts but a very short time. In other words, the defense which is manufactured by your body through having certain diseases may be a defense which may be permanent or it may be very transitory.

Artificially acquired immunity is the immunity that is acquired by taking vaccines and serums. Vaccines cause the system to act and manufacture its own defense. This defense is then an artificial active immunity. Serums contain the defense already manufactured by animals. The defense in this case is a passive defense or immunity.

An example of the artificial active immunity is furnished by vaccination against smallpox. The material injected causes your system to actively manufacture a defense which stays with you a variable length of time and protects you against smallpox should you be exposed to it.

An example of the passive immunity is that produced by diphtheria antitoxin. The antitoxin in this case is a defense in itself and the system does not have to manufacture it.

I feel like saying that a parent who depends upon a child's system to manufacture its own defense against diphtheria, and who will take the chance of the child's dying by the agonizing slow strangulation caused by the diphtheria membrane, rather than give it the defense already prepared in antitoxin, ought to die himself by the same method. I had better say, that the people who are responsible for the lies about antitoxin which have caused the fear of it, deserve that fate.

Diphtheria is not "filthy animal matter." It is the clear pure serum of healthy young horses that have been artificially given diphtheria toxin. And it is full of the defense which the horse's cells and blood have produced to neutralize this toxin. Some of the horses will produce a good grade of antitoxin for eight years, which shows that they suffer very little from producing this life-giving defense.

Tomorrow — Diphtheria Antitoxin.

Woman Is Chief Counsellor to Turk Leader; Kemal Relies on Her Judgment of Problems

The Turk leader is said to rely on the judgment of this "New Woman of the East." It is said she was educated in French as well as the native tongue. Her sympathies are western. Emancipation of harem women is one of her chief aims.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—In the days following the Great War every American or Englishman visiting Constantinople knew Madame Halid Edib Hanum.

Representative of the modernized emancipated, intelligent, cultured Turkish women, she made friends as well as admirers among all those she met.

Then, in 1920, she fell under suspicion because of her advanced views and the remarkable variety of nationalities comprised in her circle of friends. Next she was condemned to death.

Eludes Police

Eluding the police, with the aid of an American film operator, she flew from Constantinople direct to Angora and threw in her lot with the Turkish Nationalists.

The escape was made in broad daylight.

Kemal hailed Madame Halid as a new and valuable influence and aided the efforts she made on behalf of the unemancipated women of the district. In his first ministry she was allotted the post of minister of education.

Very shortly after she became deep in the counsels of the Nationalist leader. In spite of his religious prejudices Mustapha Kemal began to believe in her with a trust almost fanatical. He takes no political step without her advice.

Western Sympathies

Old men of the party grumble and whisper in angry asides, but Kemal pays them no heed. When Kemal establishes the National Assembly in Constantinople Madame Halid will have a very important portfolio in his administration.

At the same time all her sympathies are western. "Turkey will never be reunited without the help of freed women" is the text of the discourse she preaches. She speaks and reads English perfectly, and, although her mother was a pure-blooded Frenchwoman, all her real sympathies are with English ideals.

Nevertheless, born in a harem and married under the ordinary Turkish custom, Madame Halid knows every detail of the cloistered life of the Turkish daughter and wife.

"I was brought up to Turkish housekeeping," she says, "and I could, like any other good Turkish wife, pick out a useful female slave for the house and know the exact price to pay for her.

"I have spent many mornings in the slave markets, for the choice and management of the women slaves is the first accomplishment of the Turkish housewife.

Knows Home Arts

"And, for that matter, I could go to an English butcher's shop and pick out the proper joint of beef or mutton for an Englishman's dinner, for I have studied housekeeping from the Occidental point of view as well as from that of the secluded Oriental.

"I could, after seeing her perform, name the maximum price which should be paid for a Circassian dancing girl, whose grace and beauty might charm the lord of the harem.

"After concluding a bargain in the slave market I could assume English dress and play tennis, dance in the western fashion, or amuse my English and French friends at the piano, or sing the latest songs from New York, London or Paris."

These half-jesting remarks hardly convey the romance and wonder of the life of this strange woman. A better idea can be obtained from her book, "Fetters Broken by Strength," which gives an account of Turkish women's struggle for freedom. It is a fierce attack upon polygamy.

As Minister of Education at Angora Madame Halid has acted both as teacher and organizer.

She insisted upon the laying aside of the veil and organized a nursing corps of women from among those who had been brought up to hide their faces from the sight of man.

Those who know the Near East best hesitate to put any limit to the position this woman may attain.

Side Talks

THE SUCCESSFUL DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

Yesterday I answered in this column a letter from a Letter Friend who was about to go to live with her son and new daughter-in-law, and asked me if I could give any suggestions as to how to be a successful mother-in-law.

Today I have promised, in answer to the chorus of demands from mother-in-laws that I heard on my private psychic wireless, to tell the daughter-in-laws that the mother doesn't have to do it all, that if the three-cornered home is to be a happy one, she has got to help.

How?

Well, in the first place she must make up her mind not to be jealous, not to try in any way, subtle or direct, to lessen her husband's natural and right love for his mother. A man can love a mother and wife each with all his heart, and yet rob neither.

She Can Afford to Be Generous

In the second place, she must try not to be arrogant about the fact that the home is—and should be—hers. She has a right to do everything her way perhaps, but as Phillips Brooks says: "We don't have a right to all our rights." Her mother-in-law has had many years' experience. Why not avail herself of some of it once in awhile? Why not be gracious and kindly enough to do something her way occasionally? And if the mother does certain household tasks the daughter should as far as possible let her do them just as she wants to do them even if it doesn't seem to her the most efficient or most modern way.

The daughter should remember that in giving up her own home, the mother is passing through a difficult experience and should have extra forbearance and tenderness on that account.

The daughter should not always be digging at her husband by mentioning something that his mother has done that she doesn't like. If there is any serious difficulty that has to be adjusted naturally she has a right to consult her husband and even ask him to intervene. I know a home where the mother-in-law absolutely would not lift a finger to do her share of the work. The wife finally had to ask her husband to speak to her. But I know there are many more homes where the wife likes to make constant little nagging complaints and criticisms to her husband to put him on the defensive. It is a great mistake tactically. It may make trouble between him and his mother, but is just as apt to make him feel resentful toward the complainer.

A kind daughter-in-law will try to let her mother share some of their pleasures and will do little tactful things such as suggesting she entertain her own friends when for some reason she and her husband are to be away to meals.

The Happy Three-Cornered Home

The daughter is mistress in the home but, on the other hand, it is the only home the mother has and while she cannot be allowed to run it, she should be allowed to have all the comfort and pleasure possible, a room fixed up so that she will enjoy sitting in it (if a private sitting room is possible) and any other forms of consideration that are desirable and possible.

The whole thing comes back to tact and the Golden Rule. If all three will obey the Golden Rule a three-cornered home can be as happy as any other kind—or happier since there are more kinds of love in it.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Self-Conscious—Since you realize that you are only imagining that people stare at you, I should think you could make use of that knowledge and overcome your self-consciousness. You may be lacking confidence in yourself. If this is so, mingle more with people and get interested in what they say or do. This often is the only thing needful to forgetting self.

Anxious—From a correspondent comes the following directions for making the walnut stain for coloring the hair: To a half pound of domestic walnuts, add enough water to cover them, and stew until there is a strong decoction, which should amount to one pint when completed. Have your druggist add to it a half of an ounce of alcohol, or any other preservative that will not be hurtful to the hair. Apply this with a toothbrush, taking care not to get it on the skin as it will stain it as well as the hair. The only time a vanishing cream is to be preferred to the other creams, is in case there is need for a temporary freshening of the complexion. There is no reason for using this cream before powdering, as your fine cream can be used sparingly and rubbed into the pores with the finger tips; the surplus can then be wiped off and there will be enough cream left to act as a base for the powder.

L. I.—Bleach this hair on your legs by using a mixture of ammonia and peroxide, equal parts. It would be foolish to try to remove this hair with a depiliatory as that acts like a shave, increasing and coarsening the growth.

Despair—It is evident that the hair tonic has already helped, since the itching in the scalp has stopped; but you cannot cure such a bad case as yours in so short a time as one month. Continue to use the vibrator on the scalp two or three times each week, while you also build up your general health. A healthy body insures a healthy condition of the scalp.

Mrs. E. R. E.—I agree with you, that all the cleansing of the complexion should not be confined to creams. We need water on the skin also and in addition to this some soap, preferably one made from fine oils such as the old fashioned castile which is made from olive oil.

Anne—Extract the coase hairs by using a blunt end tweezers and bleach the finer ones with peroxide.

Mrs. C. C. M.—I will be glad to mail you information regarding the different methods of coloring hair with henna. These cannot be published at this time.

Bobbie—You cannot hasten the return of your natural shade to the hair that has been bleached; however, every week there will be an improvement in the color.

Tomorrow—Strong, Slender Ankles

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping

HONEY

Honey is composed largely of inverted sugars gathered by the honey bee from flowers. It varies in composition and flavor according to its source. The color depends upon the flower from which it came, white clover giving a light-colored pleasant flavored honey, while that from the buckwheat and golden rod is dark and has an inferior taste. Honey contains from 69 to 75 per cent of invert sugars, and from 12 to 20 per cent water, while the ash content is small, being about one per cent.

Sugars have an important place in the dietary. They not only serve for the production of heat and energy in the body, but are also valuable in enabling the proteids to be used more economically.

Honey may be substituted for sugar in all kinds of cooking. Some physicians claim that diabetics can eat food sweetened with honey without injury.

The housewife need not hesitate about using honey, thinking she must have a special recipe—she may use her own with but little change. Bear in mind that honey is twenty per cent water and when using it in the place of sugar, use a scant cup of honey for every cupful of sugar required, and one-fifth less liquid; that is, if a recipe calls for one cup of milk, use four-fifths cup.

Honey improves the flavor of every kind of food where sugar is needed. If preferred, one-fourth, one-third or one-half honey and the remainder of sugar may be used.

If honey is substituted for sugar in bread-making, the bread will not readily dry out, as honey draws moisture and improves both bread and cake. Never keep honey in the refrigerator, cellar or cooler, but always in a warm dry place, preferably the kitchen closet.

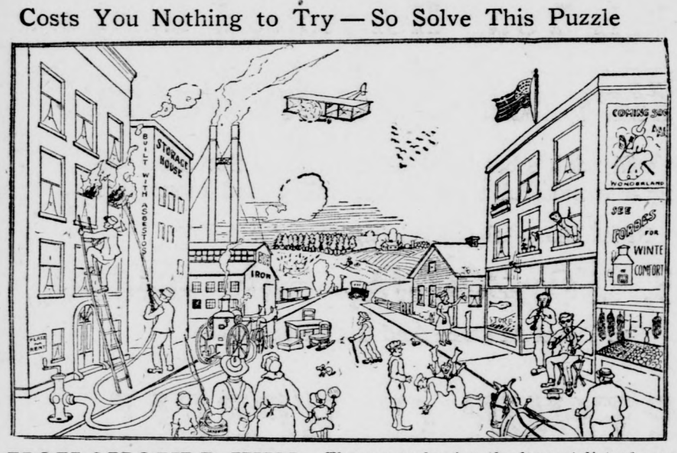

Honey Muffins—Beat one egg until light, add one-half cup honey, one-half cup milk and one and one-half cups flour and two teaspoons baking powder. Beat all well and pour into well-greased muffin pans, filling them two-thirds full. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Apple Pie With Honey—Line pie pan with raw pastry; fill with thin slices of tart apples, add one-eighth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon butter in small pieces and season with nutmeg, cinnamon or lemon juice and grated rind, as preferred, but no sugar. Cover with crust and bake until apples are soft. When done, make a small hole in center of top crust, pour in from one-half to two thirds cup (according to size of pie), honey and put back into oven for ten minutes without closing the door. Apple pie baked in this way does not run over in the oven and no sugar or honey is wasted.

For example, you will notice "Fire," "Fiddle," "Foundry," etc. Are you able to find 20 words commencing with the letter "F"? The picture is very clear; there can be no mistakes. You will find it very interesting to look for these words, and may win the big prize. Anybody can try—costs nothing. Why should you not be the winner of the $2000.00?

YOU SHOULD WIN The person having the largest list of words beginning with the letter "F" will get the First Prize. You surely have a real chance of winning at least one of the prizes offered—there are fifteen of them. Why not try for the big prize and win $2000.00. Somebody will win it—your chances are as good as anybody's.

Just think what you could do with the money. $2000 could buy an automobile and leave enough balance to make a payment on a cozy home. Perhaps you have in mind just the thing you would like to do if you received a check for $2000.00. Certainly you owe it to yourself to try to solve this puzzle. You will find the trying very easy and pleasant.

The Way to Win One of the 20 Prizes

You do not have to spend a penny to get into this contest. It is not necessary for you to order any Yeastolax. If your list is adjudged to be one of the twenty best you will receive one of the cash prizes. Without your order for Yeastolax, if your list of words commencing with the letter "F" is the largest you receive the first prize of $50. If the judges award you the second prize, without your order for Yeastolax, you will get a check for $25; and so on down the line as shown in this announcement.

Win the Big Prize—$2000.00

If you choose you can win a great deal more than the Class A prizes. All that is necessary for you to qualify your list for the BIGGER PRIZES is to send in an order for one or more packages of Yeastolax. Look over carefully the schedule of prizes as classified in this announcement. You will find that if you send in $1.00 for one package of Yeastolax and the judges award you first prize you will get $300.00. If you send in $2.00 for two packages of Yeastolax and your list is awarded first prize you will get a check for $600.00; and so on up. If you send in $5.00 for 5 packages of Yeastolax and the judges award you the first prize you will receive the Big Prize of $2000.00. Should your list be judged as the second best you would receive $1000.00; and so on down the list. Remember, there are twenty prizes offered, as shown. All the opportunity one could desire. Go in to win the best prize.

$700.00 Extra Award for Promptness

Dec. 15th, 1922, is the last day for receiving your solution to this puzzle qualifying you to win one of the prizes. But, note this: For every day before that date that your order for Yeastolax is received an extra prize of $10.00 for each and every day will be added to any first prize won. If you send in your order today you will get a receipt for the money; then you can send in your solution any time before Dec. 15th and your list will be qualified for any of the prizes. We will award an extra $700.00 in this manner. You should try your very best to earn this additional award. It will cost you little additional effort. In case of ties we will award duplicate amounts of $700.00 to each contestant so tying. Don't overlook reading about our extra premium of 50,000.00 genuine Russian Rubles, whether or not you enter this contest.

Go After the Big Prizes—don't delay—start right away—get into the contest. How many words can you find with the letter "F"? Great amusement—great opportunity. $2000.00 is awaiting your call. Now is the time to act.

Yeastolax Co., Chicago
1253 S. Michigan Ave., Dept. X188

RULES: 1 This puzzle is open to everybody except employes and relatives of the Yeastolax Co.

2 The First Prize will be awarded to the person giving the largest number of words beginning with the letter "F." To the next in order will be awarded the Second Prize and so on down the list of Twenty Prizes. The awards will be made on the basis of the words submitted and not from a predetermined list. Should there be any ties the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each contestant so tying.

3 Words of synonymous meaning and words of the same spelling but different meaning will count as only one. Use either the singular or plural of a word. Only words appearing in Webster's Dictionary—and not obsolete words, will be considered.

4 Words must be numbered 1, 2, 3, etc., consecutively.

5 The contest will be decided by three judges independent of and not connected with the Yeastolax Co. These judges will award the prizes. The contestants agree to abide by the decisions of these judges, and it is understood that such decisions are to be conclusive. The names of winners and winning lists of words will be published as soon as possible after the contest. A copy of this list will be furnished to anyone upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope. Two or more persons may co-operate in this contest, but only one prize will be awarded to any such co-operating group.

6 Lists of names must be received at our office (any time during regular office hours) on or before Dec. 15th, 1922. For every day before (or ahead) of this date that your order for Yeastolax is received you will get an additional award of $10.00 per day, added to any first prize you win. In case of ties this award will be duplicated to every contestant so tying.

YEASTOLAX If you suffer from "Rheumatism," Constipation, Indigestion Eczema, Bronchitis, Boils, or your nerves are affected in any way; or you desire to have a fine clear healthy complexion, we want you to try a package of our Marvelous Remedy, YEASTOLAX. Among its various elements Yeastolax contains the highest and most potent vitamines, which the scientific world has found to be absolutely necessary to bodily vigor. People all over the country have found great relief through its use, and now feel the joy of perfect health and vitality. Yeastolax also has the properties of being non-griping and mildly laxative, yet its action is sure.

Medical authorities have long recognized that constipation is responsible for a great many bodily illnesses and prevents the human system from successfully warding off disease and old age. Yeastolax is a highly effective remedy for this condition.

Important—Special Introductory Premium

In order to quickly introduce Yeastolax into every community, we will give to any person, regardless as to whether or not he sends in a solution to this puzzle,

ABSOLUTELY FREE—50,000.00 RUBLES

The Russian Ruble recently was worth 55c per ruble, giving the above a value of $27,500.00. We give 50,000 Rubles FREE with each and every package ordered. That is to say, if you send in $2.00 for two packages you will receive 100,000 Russian Rubles, and so on up. Remember this offer holds good whether or not you qualify for the puzzle prizes. Save this money; many a fortune has been built up by buying foreign money after wars. It is rumored that $50,000,000,000.00 worth of radium has been discovered in Russia, and the press is calling attention to vast American projects of oil and other industries that are being directed towards Russia. The Chicago Tribune on Sept. 12th called attention to the new canal which has just been opened for shipping between Russia, Germany, Persia and Central Asia, affording a new source of raw materials for the Russo-German combine, especially oil, manganese and copper and opening up the rich Persian and Central Asian trade to Germany and Russia. Think what this means; surely you cannot afford to pass up the opportunity to acquire these Rubles. We will give 50,000 Rubles free with every $1.00 order to those who enter the contest as well as those who do not.

Do you wear furs in your pantry?

No? Then your pantry is no place to keep food.

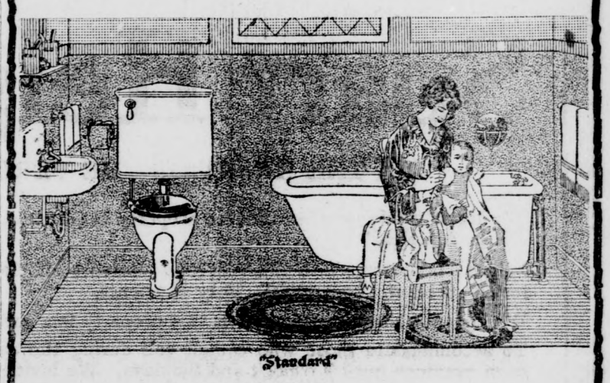

Unless all perishable food is kept at a temperature colder than 50 degrees it begins to spoil rapidly and germs begin to multiply by the millions. Even before it actually spoils it loses much of its nourishing qualities.

There is just one way to prevent this. Keep your ice-box well filled all the year round, and keep your food in a cold, even temperature. Ice costs little. It's a real economy.

Mrs. Hartley Shaw Attends Conference

A conference was held recently by the Probation Officers' Association of Southern California, in Los Angeles, at the Hall of Records, and was attended by juvenile welfare workers of various organizations, as well as by the probation officers and their deputies. Mrs. Hartley Shaw, a member of the probation committee of the Juvenile Court of this county, was present and reports a helpful and constructive program.

Among the most interesting discussions was one concerning the evening amusements of young people. For a number of months Mrs. Shaw has been formulating a plan for a "Chaperone Club" in Glendale. When it was explained to the conference, one of the probation officers said that if such a system of chaperoning young people were adopted throughout California the probation officers would all lose their jobs. This plan is being presented to the Parent-Teacher Associations of Glendale, and it is sincerely hoped by those interested in the welfare of the young people of our community that it will be approved and adopted.

Informal discussions of the Juvenile Court work were led by Miss Louise Marlow, deputy probation officer, and by Dr. Miriam Van Waters, referee of the juvenile court. Mr. Carl May, supervisor of the adult department, gave a survey of the adult probation department.

Mr. Corvell, of the Preston Industrial School for Boys, at Ione, explained the difficulties of finding employment for the graduates of that institution, and stated that at present he has a list of 275 business men of Los Angeles who are willing to extend a brotherly helping hand to these lads who are trying to "come back" and reinstate themselves in society.

At the evening session a dinner was served at the Union League Club, and representatives of several welfare organizations spoke —among them Father Lucy of the Catholic Juvenile Protective Bureau, Brigadier Boyd of the Salvation Army, and Dr. Pomeroy, health officer of Los Angeles county. Judge Weyl of the juvenile court was the speaker of the evening.

Everyone present felt that the conference was a decided step toward harmony and unity among the various organizations and an inspiration to those concerned with constructive work among the unfortunate young people whose homes have somehow failed.

Charles F. Stuart, Owner of Glendale Pharmacy, Plans Business Growth

Another prediction of business development of Glendale avenue comes in the announcement by Charles F. Stuart, owner of the Glendale Pharmacy at 638 East Broadway, of the opening of two branch drug stores, one at the northwest corner of Colorado street and Glendale avenue, and the other at the northeast corner of Acacia and Glendale avenues.

"I have great confidence in the future of Glendale avenue," says Mr. Stuart. "Business on Glendale avenue is destined to grow and I am greatly pleased with the two locations I have secured for my two branch stores.

"I am going to continue in charge of this central store at Glendale avenue and Broadway. The store at Colorado street is to be managed by P. H. Hubbard and will be known as the 'Hub Pharmacy' and the one at Acacia avenue will be managed by George C. Harris under the name of the 'Acacia Pharmacy.'

Monkey Leads Gay Life on Ohio River

DEFIANCE, Ohio—After leading the countryside a merry chase for a week and successfully evading capture, the little West Indian monkey, which had been the proud possession of Charles Yearling, living three miles from Defiance, finally fell a victim to a Defiance county dog.

The monkey was received by Yearling early in the summer from a relative who is engaged in government work in the West Indies. Recently he made his escape from the box in which he had been confined. All efforts at capture failed. He spent his time along the Maumee river and was likely to turn up almost anywhere. From Delaware Bend nearly to Defiance people got in the habit of looking in the treetops for the chattering truant.

Whenever the monkey was sighted farmers left their work and spent a while in futile effort to coax him back to captivity. It was no uncommon thing for a farmer to get up in the morning and find the monkey swinging through the orchard trees, helping himself to plums and peaches and apparently following a futile though not fruitless quest for some real West India cocoanuts.

Even bananas failed to tempt the little fellow to again submit to capture. And then came Frank Schwartz's dog in a surprise attack. He left the monkey no chance to escape, and with two good bites and a shake the animal immigrant was no more.

THIS RADIO WOMAN BOWS AND ANSWERS QUESTIONS

By WILLIAM G. H. FINCH
International News Service Service Radio Editor

NEW YORK.—People's thoughts are now read by radio, which proves that Conan Doyle's theory has been put to a practical test by "Madame Radora," who is now located at one of our uptown hotels.

"Madame Radora" is not a human being, but a life-sized automaton whose movements and thoughts are carried to her on the wings of the electric wave. No wires of any kind are attached to the table upon which she rests.

The person who wishes to ask "Madame Radora" questions stands before her and places his hands upon a pedestal upon which there are ten contact points. "Madame Radora" then bends over a crystal and answers in a clear voice. The voice and mechanical motions are accomplished by radio.

WORLD'S COUNCIL TO MEET IN U. S.

Women Leaders From All Civilized Countries to Gather During 1925

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A world council of women will meet in the United States in 1925. Women leaders from practically every civilized land will visit America at that time, guests of the National Council of Women of which the General Federation of Women's Clubs is a part.

Plans for the quinquennial of the international council of women which is the first meeting of this body ever scheduled for America were launched immediately upon receipt recently of a cablegram to Mrs. Moore announcing the decision of the executive committee of the international council of women at The Hague, to accept the invitation of the United States council to hold its 1925 meeting in Washington, D. C.

Helps Defray Expenses

In order to insure the presence of women from every one of its foreign organizations at the Norwegian quinquennial in 1920, an appropriation of 40,000 kroner from the Storthing was secured to help defray the expenses of the delegates from Iceland, Ukraine, Greece, Serbia and Austria.

In keeping with this precedent the United States council of women will proceed to take the necessary steps to appeal to congress to either furnish transportation or to charter a special steamship liner to place at the disposal of the foreign delegation.

The international council is composed of leaders of the national organizations of twenty-eight countries including the United States.

The objects of the international council are:

An international propaganda to make permanent peace possible by removing misunderstandings and political obstacles, thus removing cause for future wars.

To make women's vote count for the prevention of world catastrophe.

To raise the political status of women.

To better the condition of children and women everywhere.

To substitute sympathy and justice and faith between nations for tanks and poison gas and international suspicion.

Leaders to Meet

It is believed that the meeting will bring together for the first time practically all of the great women leaders of the world.

The National Council of Women, Inc., of the United States of America, which will be official hostess, was founded by Susan B. Anthony. Officers are:

President, Mrs. Philip North Moore, St. Louis; first vice-president, Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris, Bradford, Pa.; second vice-president, Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Minneapolis, Minn.; third vice-president, Miss Anna A. Gordon, Evanston, Ill.; fourth vice-president, Mrs. A. Ross Hill, Washington, D. C.; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary M. North, Herndon, Va.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, Monticello, Ill.; treasurer, Dr. Emma E. Bower, Port Huron, Mich.; auditor, Mrs. Ruth May Fox, Salt Lake City, Utah; historian, Miss Lucy E. Anthony, Moylan, Pa.

NEW BRUSSWICK, N. J., Oct. 31.—Deputy Attorney General General Wilbur A. Mott, in charge of the forces investigating the murder of Rev. Dr. Edward W Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. James Mills, his choir singer, declared this afternoon that there is no reason to doubt the story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, the eye witness.

STATE'S EVIDENCE

WALSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 31.—The first big sensation of the trial of John Kaminski, boy miner on trial here for first degree murder following the fatal Cliftonville mine battle, came today when the state placed Albert Meyers, 17-year-old union miner of Avilla, Pa., on the stand. Meyers turned state's evidence.

PARADE IS PROHIBITED

WETS ENDORSE LINEBERGER

Official Action of National Association Fighting Prohibition and Wright Law is Stated in Letter

To Voters of the Ninth Congressional District:

A startling climax has been reached in the campaign for congressman in the Ninth district. The wet forces are out in the open advising the re-election of W. F. Lineberger, as indicated in the following amazingly frank letter just received from the organization which is in charge of the entire national campaign against prohibition, as well as against the Wright enforcement act in California:

National Headquarters
The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment
(Incorporated)
511 Eleventh St., N. W.
Washington, D. C.
Oct. 18, 1922.

Mr. G. K. Hubbard,
573 Illinois Ave.,
Riverside, California.
My Dear Mr. Hubbard:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 27th with contribution of twenty-five cents, and I am enclosing herewith one of our regular applications for membership, which I trust you will fill in and return at your earliest convenience. . . .

In the Ninth district there is rather an interesting situation. Lineberger, the incumbent, has consistently voted dry; however, his opponent, Charles H. Randall, is so rabidly dry as to detract from Lineberger's dry support to such an extent that Lineberger will probably come out openly in favor of our platform. He has not done so yet but under present conditions Lineberger is the man to vote for in the Ninth district. . . .

For your information I am attaching a list of wet candidates which has been released for publication in today's papers.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) G. C. Hinckley,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Our W. C. T. U. Federation has, from the beginning, endorsed the Hon. Charles H. Randall for Congress in this district because of his unexcelled record during three terms in the Lower House.

Our judgment in this action is now overwhelmingly confirmed by the above letter.

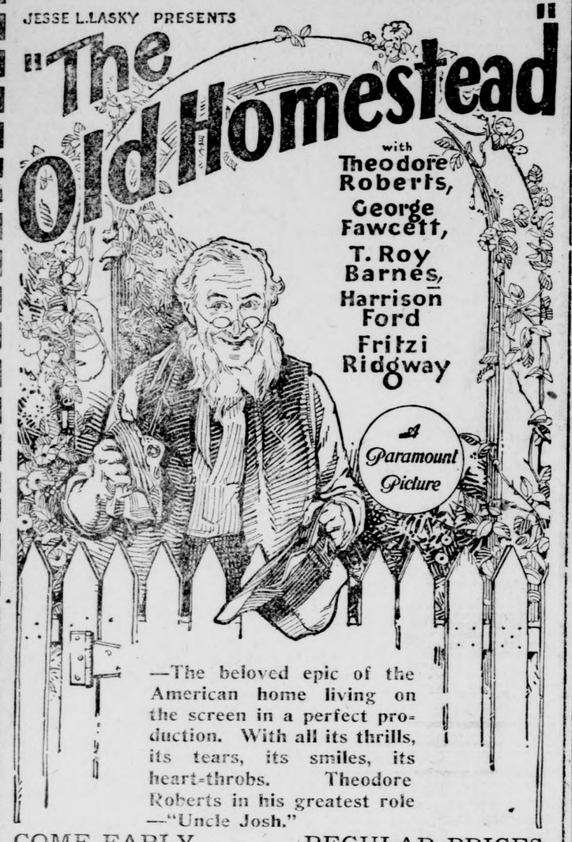

Very sincerely yours,
LURA HYDEN BOLEYN,
President of Long Beach Federation, W. C. T. U.

Claims 'Hardest' Head In Arkansas

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—Talk about ivory! Leo Reeves, of Walnut Ridges, Ark., claims to have the hardest head of anyone in Arkansas and then some. Reeves is known as "hard head" because of the resistance and resilience of his cranium. When Reeves gets into a tight place he uses his head. He thinks nothing of ramming his head through a door, breaking fifteen bottles on his head without a befuddling effect, or striking it with a hammer so long as it seems to amuse his spectators. In fact, he doesn't mind it a bit. Reeves thinks if he should fall out of the top of a skyscraper, just so he "lit" on his head, all would be rosy.

World owes every man a living, and a farmer thinks he pays for it twice over.

Changes Being Made In Plans for School

Numerous changes are being made in the high school plans in order to reduce the size of the plant to conform with the wishes of the voters, according to George U. Moyse, principal of Glendale Union high school. He visited the offices of the architects in Los Angeles yesterday and expects to do so again this afternoon.

The principal changes so far have been in the auditorium. The projection room has been moved from the main floor to the balcony. Altering the size of the building has made possible the elimination of several costly steel trusses.

In order to make recommendations in regard to the domestic science department, Miss Ellen J. Hanson will spend Friday visiting Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools.

TAKES SEVENTEEN YEARS TO BUILD THIS HOUSE

It took seventeen years to complete, but it's not ready for occupancy. S. Siggins of Fort Myer, Va., (insert) vowed he would not marry until he had completed his home for his fiancee, who was quite willing to wait for her own home. Seventeen years ago Siggins started building, doing the entire job by himself, including the plumbing, decorating, painting, etc. The house is of ten rooms and well constructed. The wedding will soon take place, and will be held, probably, in the new home.

Did You Discover Mule on Your Lawn?

Hallowe'en is about over!

The Ku Klux Klan was thought to be at large last night but it was found to be a party of youngsters on their way to a masquerade.

The most startling thing reported by the police this morning was the loss of one dark brown mule, aged seven, from the premises of T. Mercadant on rural route No. 1.

Did anyone fasten him on your porch?

British Women Ask Vote at Age of 21

OXFORD—British women plan a new campaign to get the vote at the age of twenty-one. At present a woman has to wait until thirty before exercising the franchise.

"This will not be a militant campaign, nor will it be as merry as the last," says Miss Ethel Beaumont, secretary of the Society for Equal Citizenship and leader of the movement. "We shall just quietly agitate until all persons, at the age of twenty-one, get the vote.

"If we don't chain ourselves up against railings or smash windows or break through serried ranks of policemen and burst in upon Parliament, our agitation will be none the less effective.

Young women of twenty-one are considered old enough to be married, manage homes and rear children. Why should they not be thought old enough to have the vote?"

DENSELY INHABITED
